Persistence is evident in Narberth's slow but steady climb from the cellar up the rungs of the ladder in the Main Line League. After taking a 5-to-1 beating from the strong Penn A. C. team, composed chiefly of college stars, the borough nine came back with vim to scalp Brookline 10 to 8, and followed this up with a 5-to-1 win over the Tenth Ward team on Monday night. The team is now tied for second place in the league.

By John Uberti

After spotting the Brookline Club with a seven-run lead last Saturday which seemed as wide as the Rock of Gibraltar, the Narberth Club gathered steam and shook up the enemy in an unceasing barrage of fifteen base blows to win in the final inning, ten runs to eight. This victory placed the Champions in a tie for second place with the Paoli nine while Brookline sunk into the cellar position all alone.

Howard Graham's offerings were never molested before as they were in this game as the visitors battered him with ferocity during the first three inning for eight hits and seven runs. As would be expected at any ball game with a score as one-sided as this one, a great portion of the fans began to exit from the diamond in dismay, giving up all hope of a spurt which might surpass this mountainous score. For in the first four frames of the fray Sullivan's unit attacked the diminutive slinger of fiery speed balls with an incessant and monotonous collection of nine nicks, while Narberth bats breezed in the wind with no signs of a rally. The Boroughites had only two hits to their credit as the game went into the fifth stanza, and only once had a local

"Spirit of Rotary" Subject of Keim's Talk at Club

"The spirit of Rotary" was the subject of a talk by Hervey C. Keim at the weekly luncheon of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday noon. Mr. Keim drew upon his experiences while the guest of Rotary Clubs in far-flung sections of the country.

Among the guests at the meeting were the Rev. Frank Duncombe, new pastor of the Bala-Cynwyd Methodist Church, and Andrew Green, a former resident of Narberth for eighteen years, who now lives in Evanston, Ill.

The meeting, which was well attended, was the last under the administration of President W. Russell Green. Induction of new officers will take place on Tuesday.

Sidelights of Monday's Marriage at St. Asaph's

Bala-Cynwyd figured more prominently in the news of the land this week than even the time when Paul Scull made the All-American football team as captain of the U. of P. eleven.

Miss Mary Todhunter Clark, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Clark, became the bride of Mr. Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, modest, well-liked son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The Rev. Benjamin N. Bird performed the ceremony in St. Asaph's Church, Bala.

Long before the event the invited guests commenced arriving, in a costly procession of sleek and purring cars. Outside the church hundreds of uninvited guests congregated, to admire the dresses and enjoy the sweet music and the solemn choked feeling that thrills those who attend weddings.

Pedestrians and police officers in the neighborhood were kept busy directing chauffeurs and taxi drivers to St. Asaph's. . . . William, the sexton, checked more high hats than ever before in his life. . . . After it was all over, reporters for daily papers made drug store telephones in Bala-Cynwyd the recipients of many coins and adjectives. . . . Before all the guests had left the church good housewives and others in the neighborhood wandered in to admire the ferns and flowers. . . . One woman walked up the aisle with a bulldog under her arm. . . . Children trooped in finally, and became disorderly, so that it became necessary to close the church.

. . . And meanwhile a reception was going on at "Willoughby," the peaceful, lovely Clark estate at Belmont Avenue and Righters Ferry Road, where costly gifts filled many a room, and where comment concerning the bride and groom was made by many a guest: "What a splendid match; what fine young people they are!"

Breaks Own Window

No one heaved a brick through the window of the oldest store in Narberth Tuesday afternoon; it was "Pop" Howard E. Davis himself who did the deed. Perched on a step-ladder, he was working on a screen door when the ladder gave way. By good fortune he escaped injury, although he made quite a hole in the plate glass window.

McCRERY IS TREASURER

As it has always been and always will be, until the curtain drops on time no more, or until a people is bereft of all fine tradition and unmindful of the firm footings which were war-won for them in bloodstained battlefield, Narberth plans to observe the anniversary of the nation's birth in a manner which shall fittingly correspond with the contribution which these parts made to the epochal drama of long ago, than which no other section of America may claim a more exalted share.

The old-time, well-established rules will govern, of course they will, with the cost of the affair being shared by all the folks. Each one will be asked once for what He or She will give, only once, but several remainders, so lax we sometimes are in forgetting vital things.

Simultaneously then, with this publication, the official letter is going out, a personal copy to all of the elect, and only those for whom life is worn will be so casual as to give it the attention which belongs to the dead-grass of yester-year.

To alert men and women, whose hope is high and spirit strong, the summons will be accepted as from one beloved, instant to be observed. The measure of their interest and devotion to be dispatched ever so quickly to Mr. McCrery at the bank, who will make

Miss Kirkpatrick to Be Bride Tomorrow at Presbyterian Church

The marriage of Miss Mabel Kirkpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kirkpatrick, of Essex Avenue, Narberth, and Mr. Walter F. Hunsicker, son of Mrs. M. W. Snyder, of Allentown, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Narberth Presbyterian Church. The Rev. John Van Ness, pastor of the church, will officiate.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a gown of white satin fashioned on the new straight lines with a long court train falling from the shoulders. Her sleeves will be short and she will wear lace mitts. Her wedding veil will be of lace and tulle, the cap being of lace from which falls a panel of lace. Sprays of orange blossoms will be fastened on each side of the cap. She will carry a sheath of calla lilies.

Mrs. Thomas W. Jackson, of Oak Lane, will serve as matron of honor and Miss Margaret Kent will be the maid of honor. They will wear gowns of yellow point de-esprit and yellow horsehair straw hats to match their gowns. Their bouquets will be of talisman roses and blue delphinium.

Mr. James F. Hunsicker, of Allentown, a cousin of the bridegroom, will act as best man. The ushers will include Mr. Robert Miers, Mr. Arthur Gillespie and Mr. Clifford Bartholomew, of Allentown, and Mr. Richard T. Odiorne, of Germantown.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick, mother of the bride, will wear a model of hydrangea blue chiffon and a horsehair straw hat to match. Her corsage will be of pink roses and blue delphiniums.

Mrs. Snyder, mother of the bridegroom, will wear a gown of pink chiffon and a black baku straw hat. Her corsage will also be of pink roses and blue delphiniums.

A reception will follow the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents for the members of the bridal party and the relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

After a wedding trip Mr. Hunsicker and his bride will reside in Allentown.

Narberth Theatre Notes

In former pictures, Janet Gaynor has either been very poor and Charles Farrell very rich, or vice versa, or both have been very poor. In "High Society Blues," playing at the Narberth Theatre this week-end, both are unusually wealthy, although there is a wide gap in their social positions. Also in the cast are William Collier, Sr., Joyce Compton, Hedda Hopper, Louise Fazenda, Lucien Littlefield and Brandon Hurst. David Butler, who made "Sunny Side Up," directed. Five musical numbers have been provided by Joseph McCarthy and James F. Hanley, who were responsible for "Rio Rita," "Kid Boots" and "Irene."

Warner Baxter and Catherine Dale

Owen star in "Such Men Are Dangerous," which plays at Narberth next Monday and Tuesday. The story is about the fate of a multi-millionaire who disappears mysteriously from his luxurious airplane while crossing the English Channel after his beautiful bride deserts him on the night of their wedding. Under another name he visits a famous plastic surgeon and has himself so transformed that his wife does not know him when he again takes his place in society, even when he makes ardent love to her.

Narberth features for next Wednesday and Thursday are Winnie Lightner in "Hold Everything" and next Friday and Saturday, Fannie Brice in "Be Yourself."

Popular "talkies" scheduled for presentation soon at the Narberth Theatre include "Under a Texas Moon," "The Divorcee," "Mammy" and "In Gay Madrid."

To encourage attendance at the regular matinees, held 2:30 P. M. daily, the theatre management is presenting dresser-ware gifts to women in the audiences.

FORE AND AFT

Discrimination is indeed a strange thing. It is found where one would think least of looking for it, and not found where one has every reason to expect it. One has reason to expect it on the Main Line, for instance, and it was probably this consideration, above all others, that brought the Hedgerow Theatre players to the Main Line last year in their immensely interesting repertory of plays. They appeared first at the Anthony Wayne Theatre and hordes of Main Liners attended. But when, because of a well-founded belief on the part of the director, Jasper Deeter, that acting when viewed past the twentieth row becomes puppetry, Hedgerow moved to the more compact Berwyn Theatre, the horde of what had appeared to be the discriminating dwindled down to the select group who can take their art in barn-like structures as well as in ornate movie palaces. And it was not until this same horde of the discriminating had read the raves about Hedgerow performances at Berwyn and the select attendance at Berwyn that they attempted to follow—but by then Hedgerow had departed with its repertory leaving a trail of regret in the bosoms of our Main Liners who had not exercised their discrimination far enough—or had exercised it too far in worrying over hard seats.

But this season Hedgerow has affected a seemingly happy truce with the Main Line and through the efforts of Manager Freid, of the Anthony Wayne Theatre, we again find Hedgerow playing at the Anthony Wayne Theatre on Monday evenings—since the Main Liners have shown that they will come to the Anthony Wayne Theatre.

One of the much-raved about plays missed by so many Main Liners last season when it played at the Berwyn is Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" and it is this play which Mr. Deeter has chosen to present at the Anthony Wayne on Monday evening, June 30. We have a wager on that our faith in Main Line discrimination will be revived on the evening of June 30 when our Main Liners turn out to see what one of our Main Line papers referred to as "one of the best performances that I have ever seen this company present" while another paper wrote, "We were so surprised and pleased and tickled and everything else, that we're sold on the idea (the Hedgerow idea) strong now."

"Beyond the Horizon," when it was first produced in New York, was hailed by the critics as the first consistently sustained serious play produced by an American. It was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in that year. Added to the Hedgerow repertory in July, 1925, it has drawn large audiences from season to season. It is an interesting coincidence that last season Kenneth Macgowan, director of the second New York production of "Beyond the Horizon," came down to Hedgerow on a hurried trip to gather some facts on the Hedgerow Theatre for his book, "Footlights Across America" (since published). He found Hedgerow had "Beyond the Horizon" scheduled for that evening and as he had to be in Pittsburgh that same evening, he was able to see only the first scene of the play. A few days later Mr. Deeter received a letter from him saying "I thought the opening scene (acting) was much better done than in either production in New York."

"Beyond the Horizon" is a tragedy of human futility and illusion. Robert Mayo, the central figure, is essentially a dreamer—drawn by far-off things, but his poetic susceptibilities involve him in the adventure of the immediate romance—and the result is tragedy. All the people concerned in Robert's mistake find themselves struggling against an environment in which they are thoroughly miscast, all long for far-off things—for what lies beyond the horizon. It is O'Neill at his best.

The Hedgerow cast in "Beyond the Horizon" on Monday evening will include Ferd Nofer, William Price, Dudley Vaughan, Walter Hart, Miriam Phillips, Harry Bellaver, Jean Sweidel and Jasper Deeter.

Justifying Themselves

A remarkably interesting experiment in accident prevention is being carried in the borough of Narberth. The results to date would seem to make out a fine case for the "Thru traffic-Stop" system.

During 1929 the police records showed an average of at least one accident per week within the one square mile of territory comprising Narberth. There were three fatalities from automobile crashes in the year.

On April 1, 1930, "Stop" signs were erected at all intersections of "Thru traffic" streets, which are Wynnewood, Essex, Narberth and Haverford Avenues. Since that time there have been only three accidents reported in very nearly three months. Quite a difference over one a week.

During the first couple of months lots of people received summonses to appear before Burgess Henry Frye and explain their lax driving methods. If they were first offenders they were excused with some words in their ear. Most of them incidentally were people from other sections of the Main Line or other parts of the State.

A new system is now in practice by the police as regards "Stop" sign violators. The whistle is used by the officer at the time instead of the cumbersome and slow system of taking license numbers, writing to Harrisburg for names and addresses and mailing summonses. It will tend to speed up the work immensely and will also give the motorist a chance to state his case when it is fresh in his mind.

"What!—No Swimming Pool?"

That remark was made by a visitor here this week. "Why, there's hardly a good-sized, prosperous inland community in this country that doesn't have a community swimming pool," he said. "What's the matter with you Main Line folks, anyway?"

Well, there may be reasons such as lack of inexpensive water and cheap land conveniently accessible, but we are inclined to think that the absence of a suitable pool is attributable to inertia of our residents.

The Colonial Village at Wayne has splendid swimming facilities, and the Main Line Christian Association's indoor pool at Ardmore is well maintained, though small. Many Main Line folk visit pools at Llanerch and Sixty-ninth Street. It is a pool such as these, large, clean and conveniently located, that the Main Line needs—and needs badly.

Private enterprise may establish some such pool here some day—and there should be a fair profit. But in the meantime, we offer this tentative suggestion: Let Main Line clubs appoint a joint committee to determine the feasibility of establishing a pool, financed by popular subscription.

One plan would be for the swimming pool to be made a stock company, with the public privileged to purchase shares at moderate cost, entitling the holders to free use of the pool, in the stead of financial return on their investment. Others would be charged a nominal fee for use of the pool and locker rooms—subject to reduction in price on the purchase of a strip of ten or more tickets.

Most Main Line residents spend only part of the summer away from their homes. Comparatively cool, shaded, quiet, beautiful with its flowers and trees and lawns, the Main Line is a very pleasant suburban section in summertime. It would be far more so if it had a community swimming pool.

Growth of the Main Line

Lower Merion's population has increased 47 per centum during the last decade and now stands at 35,118, according to a preliminary count of the Census Bureau. Combined with Narberth's 4663 this geographical section has a total of 39,781. Populations of Haverford and Radnor townships probably will about double that figure, or give the total Main Line area approximately 80,000.

This population represents a tremendous buying power and probably forms the most influential groups of communities in the Philadelphia territory. Efforts of certain agencies to swell the figures by about 100 per centum and to advertise its trading area as that of 150,000 souls work no good for the Main Line but rather start it on an inflation period such as is now being endured by certain of our neighbors.

JESS—IN FUN

Jasmine's ever keen intellect set me to thinking upon the subject. I myself am neither sufficiently curious nor energetic to bestir myself about the domestic bliss or difficulties of others; I have a hard enough time achieving the former and preventing the latter in my own household. Jasmine broke the customary silence of our dinner hour to enquire how Mrs. Byrd and all the little sparrows cotton to the Admiral's habit of spending months and months and months atop the various poles. And I, also, wonder.

We ordinary mortals are content to visit the polls once every four years and even then consider ourselves overworked. The Admiral, however, is a different mould of man, and counts that day lost whose low descending sun sees not another pole discovered, another country won. In between polar excursions, the Admiral manages to put in a few sideshows like the flight to Europe. Whatever kind of a bird the Admiral is, he certainly cannot be called a homing pigeon.

And now he must sigh for news worlds to conquer. All the poles of this world have been discovered and examined and flown over, and soon will be made into lecture material. Somehow or another one cannot help but criticise a Providence which provided the world, supposedly a good world, with a measly maximum of two poles.

But I am forgetting Mrs. Byrd, whose sympathy with the Admiral's wanderlust is to be investigated. Just how does she like the man-sized vacations which her Richard takes? Jasmine, I know, would stand for nothing of the sort. I find it difficult to take a few hours off, let alone a couple of years. Of course he talks to her over the radio every day while he is away. But for all that she knows the cleverest vamps in Antarctica may be chasing her husband from berg to berg. My guess is that the Admiral won't escape again for a long time.

A friend hobs up with the information that Rudy Vallee employs a bodyguard when he walks the streets of the metropolis. This is a right clever idea. If anybody ever needed a truly efficient bodyguard, Rudy does. The bruiser who accompanies the most famous member of Yale's Class of 1927 is instructed to ward off amorous females and irate males. I have an idea that his is not the easiest position in the world. Even my ordinarily equable temperament would probably give place to fits of frenzy if the cacaphonic crooner of the air happened to approach. I would not mind Vallee so much if he would make up his mind and either sing or talk, but when he insists on mingling the two hopelessly, I prefer to tune him out. And I am not wholly out of tune with present day radio personalities. I get a large kick out of Amos and Andy, Will Rogers, Ambrose J. Weems and Tompkins Corners. I like Mr. Atwater Kent's musical hour. I like David Lawrence. I like the Dutch Masters. But I don't like Mr. Vallee. His difficulty is that he is neither musical, funny nor educational. When I think that Mr. Vallee will be attending Yale reunions (and presumably crooning the Maine Stein Song at them) for years and years to come, I thank whatever gods there be that I am a Princeton man.

In response to many solicitous inquiries, Mr. and Mrs. Littlekiss wish to state to their neighbors that the Littlekiss dog is not ill. He merely has a musical tendency which crops up in the wee early hours of the morning. If the neighbors care to come over and scratch the back of his neck, which is what he desires, they are free to do so. The Littlekisses themselves do not mind the music. Besides they sleep in the front of the house.

Pennac Stars Down Narberth With Ease

U. of P. Moundsman Allows Five Hits in 7-1 Victory Last Thursday.

MARTIN SCORES RUN

By John Uberti

With a distinguished array of players representing many leading colleges of the United States, Pennac returned to Narberth last Thursday for their fifth game on record, and rolled up safeties with such unfaltering precision to completely outplay and outscore the local club, 7-1. In winning over the Davismen, Pennac found access to their twenty-third victory in the past twenty-five games in which they have participated this season. For Narberth it was their third defeat out of six twilight games played thus far this year.

The Narberth boys dropped a pair of contests to the Quaker City nine in 1928, but made a more impressive showing in the subsequent season when they lost one and won one, and that being by the narrow score of 4-3.

With Roepke, of Penn State; Maxwell and Francis, of Notre Dame, and Kreuz, of U. of P., the Penn A. C. Club went through Narberth like Grant through Richmond. Graham, Lyons and Reynolds, of Dayton University, pitching for the Borough team, were in turn bombarded aplenty, giving the visitors the aggregate number of ten base hits. "Big Boy" Peterson, of the University of Pennsylvania, was superb in the mound role, and no one knows that better than the Narberth boys, for only on two occasions were they admitted as far as second base save in the lucky seventh when they sent in their only run.

Peterson went the entire limit for Pennac and halted the Davismen in order three times during this game. In the sixth inning Mulligan, Kearney and Humphreys surrendered on strikes for an easy retirement.

Narberth was particularly ineffective on the lanes once they succeeded in getting on base. Four local batsmen who hit safely were later thrown out on base, the ineffectiveness being emphatically displayed twice when two of Narberth's best players uncautiously extended their distance off base to be expunged in a back and forth tussle.

Fleck continued on his vigorous batting streak by extending his consecutive hitting to ten games.

During the course of his nine-inning performance on the mound, the Big Boy mowed down nine men on strikes, while it took three local hurlers to down four aliens. Inefficiency also prevailed on the box for the Borough twirlers who handed out no less than six free tickets to the initial station, three of these passes giving the foe-men as many unearned runs.

Manager Davis delegated the diminutive Graham to scale the mound at the start and was touched for a run in the second. However, he was withdrawn in lieu of Nick Lyons and the Penn A. C. boys showed their approval of his appearance and greeted him with three hits for three runs. But from the fifth until the seventh, he pitched air-tight ball, especially in the latter part of the fifth when he retired the side without further damage after three men jammed the pathways.

In view of the fact that the first run of the game was scored in the second, during Graham's performance, and that the local boys never passed the mark during the course of the contest, Howard was charged with the defeat despite his brief stay on the hill. It was Howard's fourth setback out of the past six starts. Lyons was slapped for three runs in the fourth and Reynolds for another trio in the finale. Narberth went through six innings for only four hits, but in the lucky seventh they averted a shutout defeat.

Matthews perched under Fleck's aerial. Rubincan struck out for the third straight time, and when Martin walked, Peterson never realized that the pass was destined to spoil his dreams of a shutout victory. Then came a rather complicated play.

Blessing trekked to the plate and, on the third strike sped to first when the maskman missed the throw from Peterson. The Big Boy ran in to the

Narberth Downs 10th Ward 5-1 But Is in Hot Water Several Times

Pitching his first full game of the season, McKee hung up a new record on the hill last Monday night when he launched his speed ball with unwonted exactitude to crush nine rival batsmen as Narberth sluggers drummed out a 5-1 victory.

It was the first complete game which the West Philadelphian has hurled during the 1930 season while he has marked up against his record one defeat for the year in Main Line League ball, in which contest he failed to go the limit. His victory over Jack Hart's Veterans is not credited to McKee as this contest was merely a practice game and is officially discarded from the year's records.

However, his magnificent slinging showed deficiency at times as the enemy batters worked him for passes five times, but the elongated hurler atoned for those passes and the crowd forgot all about his faults as he drew a tremendous applause from the fans twice during the game as he curbed the foe who threatened to eke to the front with the bases packed. At times it seemed as though McKee loaded the lanes intentionally so that he might derive more enjoyment from his duties in breezing past the last strike.

Tenth Ward played a valiant uphill game from the start to end and proved to be a real menacing club determined to raise their string of wins to ten. They had only been beaten three times prior to their game with the Champions.

Tenth Ward lost this game because of their apparent inability to properly master the bases when they managed to pack them. Seven men of the alien east were cut down on the lanes as the Borough infield fired and retrieved in flashy fashion. The foe succeeded in crowding the bags twice but only went as far as second in the other innings as Mulligan kept the hot-box well guarded.

The Boroughites scored first by tallying two runs in the initial stanza, but this lead was cut down in the foreign half of the subsequent canto, as the visitors scored their only run of the game. Tenth Ward never scored again although they touched McKee for nine bingles. P. Casey held the Davismen down pretty well, allowing only three hits in the next five innings which followed, but then buckled up in despair as the Narberth Club came to bat in the lucky seventh.

Four hits and three more runs assured the pachyderms of Main Line Baseball of undisputed triumph. Young singled past short, and moved up a base on McKee's sacrifice, P.

Casey to Brenner, scoring without hesitation on Curwin's three-base smash into deep centre. Mulligan fell on strikes and Martin tapped an easy single past the pitcher and beat it out to first, Curwin counting. Rubincan also singled and after a short pause at first made for the keystone as Flannery, Tenth Ward's maskman, was charged with an overthrow to second attempting to head him off. Rubincan went to third on the blunder and Martin scored. Duffy ran in to sphere Thomas' aerial.

Cardinals Beat Wynnewood Aided by Gilroy's Hurling

In a recent game which was threatened several times by rain the Cardinals defeated the Wynnewood B. C. in eight innings by a 10-6 score. The excellent pitching of Bob Gilroy and the batting of Paul Kane were the outstanding features of the game. Good support was given Gilroy, however, by the rest of the team.

Haverford Community Center to Open July 5

Saturday, July 5, has been set as the opening of the Haverford Community Centre by the directors. Due to the gift during the past year of two and one-half acres by Horatio Gates Lloyd, of Haverford, the playground now covers nearly five acres.

The property committee of the Centre has been busy during the past month putting the grounds in order and now a full-sized baseball diamond, three tennis courts and a vast stretch of grassy fields are available.

Virtually all of the Centre's activities now have taken to the open, hikes, picnics, games and sports of all kinds being included in the daily programs. The official playground opening, with the use of all the play apparatus, is set for July 5.

The girls' baseball team, made up of children 12 to 15 years of age, is ready to challenge other girls' teams of the seventh and eighth grades in the public schools. The Haverford Community Centre team feels pretty confident it can lick most any team in its class.

The Centre welcomes visitors from other similar community organizations on its playgrounds. There is plenty of grass for everybody.

The spring exhibit of handicraft made by the children at Haverford Community Centre will be held on the evening of June 26, at which time many visitors will see what the youngsters of the community have been doing all winter.

Following the exhibit, a moving picture entertainment will be provided for the mothers and fathers of the section. Every Friday throughout the summer outdoor movies are shown at the Centre.

Jeddo-Highland coal is as inherently pure as any anthracite mined in the United States. Its preparation has always been the best. And these high standards have existed, unchanged, since 1858. Jeddo-Highland is the true "Aristocrat of Anthracite."

Dr. L. R. Davis, Former L. M. and Penn Athlete, to Help Coach U. of P. Court Team

Dr. Lawrence R. Davis, of Avon Road, Narberth, has been appointed an assistant basketball coach of the University of Pennsylvania, according to an announcement by Ralph Morgan, chairman of the basketball committee.

Dr. Davis, "Lardie" as he is known to his friends, was a Lower Merion football, basketball and baseball star before entering Penn. At the University he distinguished himself on the court team, especially as a defensive center. Only two field goals were scored against him during his junior year in the league, and during his senior year he held the opposition to four goals. He was picked all-collegiate center for two years, and captained the five his senior year. Dr. Davis graduated from the School of Dentistry in 1919.

"Lardie" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis, whose store in Narberth is the oldest business establishment in the Borough, and a brother of "Gene" Davis, popular manager of the Narberth Baseball Club.

Dr. Davis is by no means new to the coaching field. He was freshman coach at the University during the 1919-20 season, and head coach of Haverford College during 1920 and 1921. He later coached at the Haverford School.

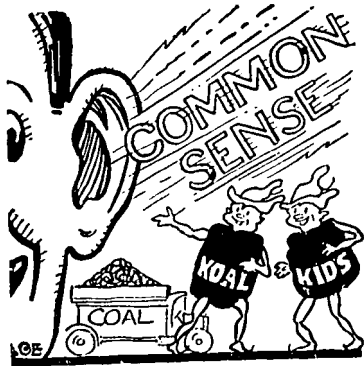

Davis played at Pennsylvania under Jourdet. In 1920 when Lon gave up his coaching position at the Red and Blue to go South, he was succeeded by Eddie McNichol, who held the position up to the end of the past season.

Jourdet returned in an advisory capacity two years ago and when McNichol decided to step out Jourdet was again named coach. One of Lon's first moves was to secure the services of Davis as an assistant.

Dr. Davis took much more interest in Penn basketball during the past year than he has for many seasons. He made several trips with the squad and therefore has a good idea of the material.

A woman in Omaha, Neb., has been married eight years and does not know which of her husband's three names is his right one, so is suing for divorce. She is suing for alimony under three names. From this distance we would judge she is a business woman.

man reached as far as third.

Then came the fifth inning and disappointment for the Brookline Club and fans. Gene Davis' musketeers seemed to have found their stride in this inning for the first five men up assailed McCauley in succession, each one pushing in a preceding player who covered a base. A walk and sacrificial click was followed by a sixth bingle to score the fifth and last run of the inning.

With the scoring somewhat evened up in the fifth at 7-5, Graham paid tribute to his slugging pals whose ferocious assault on McCauley had given him inspired hopes of victory. From the fifth on Howard held the Philadelphians to four scattered hits and one more run in the alien half of the finale.

Narberth passed the Brookline hitting mark in the eighth when they clouted McCauley for four more safeties from which they coined two runs to even the score. Curwin raised an easy fly to Kiker at shortstop and Burns beat out his infield tap. Humphreys also flied out for the second out in sending a long aerial to J. Wood in right wing and Fleck blasted a violent blow out of the centre fielder's reach for a well-earned triple. Burns came home on the hit. Rubincan clicked a short single and Fleck crossed with the tying marker. Thomas' hit proved worthless to the local cause when Kearney fell on strikes for the third retirement.

June 29—Morning prayer and sermon.

Cardinals Triumph

Last Wednesday afternoon the Cardinals won a slugfest from the Narbrook Park Seniors. Martie Case, a former Cardinal, who was sent to the Park team because of lack of experience, was relieved in the second inning by Wood. The final score was 19 to 15.

BUSINESS SIDELIGHTS

By PAT

Lovers of beautiful pieces of furniture and those who appreciate valuable antiques will be delighted with the many objects d'art so suitable for the June bride to be found in the shop of S. T. Caruso, Ardmore. Two pieces, at the present time, deserve mention because of their beauty. One is an antique snake foot table with the dish rim top, a wonderful value at a most reasonable price. The other is one of those very scarce slope top desks, walnut with Chippendale feet and imported English handles. This is an original in semi-natural state and there is just one. There are also those delightful original adaptations of Sheraton and Duncan Phyfe chairs by S. T. Caruso—charming for the wedding gift distinctive. These are very rare pieces of furniture and you may see them displayed to the best advantage in Mr. Caruso's Shop.

Here's a system that makes savings for emergencies appeal to all of us—The Merion Title and Trust Company are opening a Thrift Club! Most of us are familiar by now with the Christmas Club plan of putting away a stated sum each week and receiving a check at Christmas. Now the Thrift Club gives you your check fifty weeks after your first payment—for which your money can be drawn sooner—insurance, coal, school and vacation expenses. Just put away fifty cents, one dollar, two dollars or five dollars a week and you'll never miss it. The interest paid is 3%. All would do well to join this club to meet emergencies. Start July first and plan for a real vacation next summer, and in the meantime, there's always that priceless, confident feeling that when you need money it is there for you.

Tom Thumb Golf Course

Craze Hits Main Line

The invasion of Tom Thumb Miniature Golf Courses has started on the Main Line. A course was recently opened at the Covered Wagon Inn, Strafford, and a new one opened last Wednesday on Lancaster Pike, Bryn Mawr, opposite the Seville Theatre.

Built with grass tees and greens, each of the eighteen holes is entirely different and makes a fascinating sport. Sand traps, water hazards and many clever obstacles add all the charm of a large course and require all the skill at the golfer's command.

Many of these courses are now in operation in the city of Philadelphia and in the suburbs. It is now possible through the installation and management of the Ceco Company to enjoy these facilities at Bryn Mawr. At night the course is as light as day through a system of spot lights. The golf enthusiast may improve his putting on greens of the same speed as a regular course.

This craze started last winter in Florida and since then has spread like wildfire throughout the country. Los Angeles has nearly 300 of these courses, and Chicago 400. With golf becoming more popular every day, the tens of thousands of these courses now being installed throughout the country are filling a long-felt need.

Make Annual Appeal For 4th Contributions

a careful tabulation of it all, and acclaim and applaud those worthy citizens who do not have to be cursed, coaxed and cajoled into doing this quite reasonable and altogether praiseworthy thing.

So, too, will Our Town proclaim the co-operative corps, a robust roster, the names of those who hold their standards sure, a publicity privilege they accord in recognition of the irresistible force of good example in bringing heaven to the land, to maintain our precious memories in their loftiest estate.

The list will be impressive, as indeed it should be, and praise and glory to those who shall adorn it.

J. L. McCrery is the gentleman's full name, if checks are to be written, and he is treasurer of the Fourth of July Fund, holding forth at the Narberth National Bank, an excellent institution which shall be open the night long to receive the valued stipends which are now solicited. We mean to say you may push your happy enclosure in the bank's mail slot, if perchance the doors are closed, as 'tis claimed that even bankers must sometimes sleep, tho' goodness knows why they should, so no end of money have they, and so badly does the country need its spending.

Please do hurry, all of us.

THE SPECTATOR.

Paid-up Members Is Fire Company Aim

Efforts are under way to bring the members of the Narberth Fire Company who are in arrears in their dues up to date. Delinquent memberships comprise a considerable number and it is the hope of the Fire Company that these will be paid up in the near future.

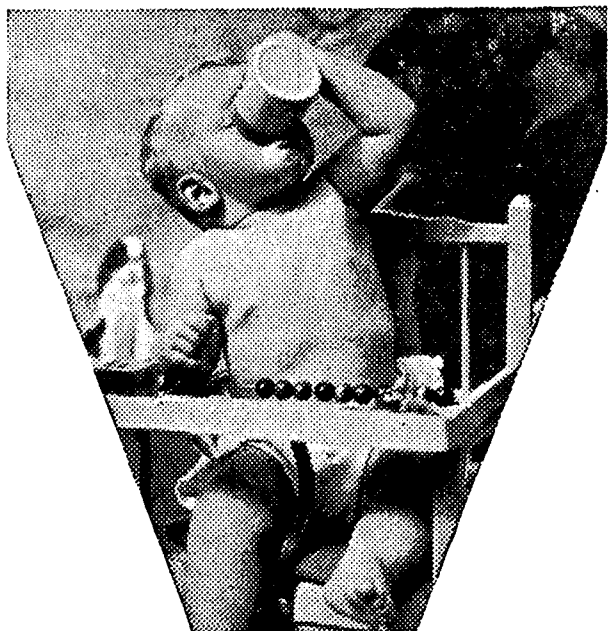

It is rumored that a permanent auxiliary to the Fire Company will soon be formed of the public-spirited women who put across so successfully the big firemen's benefit supper and bazaar during the winter.

At the election held by the company recently Frederic A. Egmore, of Elmwood Avenue, and William Newborg, of Woodbine Avenue, were elected trustees of the Fire Company for a two-year term. Mr. Egmore was also elected publicity chairman for the company.

The future looks bright to those who will work hard and attend to their own business, says a well-known financier. And, for the life of us, we can't think of any two things people care less about doing.
